

GP Bullhound

Intern in Corporate Finance

The role offers the opportunity to work on some of the most diverse technology transactions, primarily across the Software, Internet & Digital Media and Interactive Marketing Services sectors. The ideal candidate will have previously completed an internship at a leading bulge bracket investment bank or corporate advisory firm. They must have a genuine passion for technology and investment banking, should come from an excellent academic background and be highly numerical and articulate. The candidate must be a team player, keen to take on responsibility and be able to delegate certain tasks. Key qualities include being able to demonstrate an entrepreneurial mindset, being considerably self-motivated and having a high degree of stamina to work within a high energy and focused team environment.

The candidate should be comfortable with performing a wide range of roles, including:

- Pitches & marketing - assist team members in preparing pitches and updating marketing materials with sector research and analysis
- Sector coverage - analyse a range of Technology companies in support of new business generation
- Transaction documentation - Supporting the preparation of transaction marketing documents (e.g. executive summary, investment memorandum, investor presentation, financial models etc.)
- General Transaction support - involvement in assembling, developing, and/or editing information requests, due diligence lists, confidentiality agreements, proposals, and management
- Team work - Working together with our teams across all of our offices

GP.Bullhound