

Insurance as easy as never before

Senior User Interface / Visual Designer (m/f) at Clark in Frankfurt am Main Germany's digital insurance expert is looking for an outstanding Senior/Lead User Interface Designer / Visual Designer (m/f). With Clark, customers handle insurance as simply as never before and can save money.

Your chance: Ownership of the company's visual identity and the appearance of our brand and product

- Be responsible for visual design at all stages of development including research, design, prototyping, detailed design, usability testing and implementation
- You work directly with product managers, developers and other stakeholders throughout the product development process to ensure efficiency
- You can leave a footprint and develop a convincing user experience through clear and appealing designs with common DNA across all the platforms (iOS, Android, Web) together with our UX Designer
- Contribute to the execution of creative strategies to ensure end to end creative excellence

What you bring: A great feeling for user interface design with at least 2 years experience in UI & Visual design of mobile apps, creatives and websites

- You like to work in an agile environment and lead stakeholders from tech and marketing to consistently implement your vision
- You are a university graduate and possess good cognitive skills
- You are up to date about trends in modern designs and like to experiment with new tools & concepts
- You work efficiently with common tools (such as Sketch, Adobe CC, Invision, Principle, etc.) complex designs and prototypes
- You have a good knowledge of HTML/CSS and you know most of their possibilities and limitations

What we offer: A central role in a highly motivated and talented team

- A meaningful product on the rise with a team, passionate about customer experience and user centered design
- A constructive working environment - we live an open feedback culture and take all ideas of our team-members seriously
- We believe in open communication between our teams and foster communication through technology
- A steep learning curve through close exchange with the marketing and product team and high variety of exciting tasks
- Flat hierarchies with short and open communication paths - from CEO to trainee
- A centrally located office in Frankfurt with free fruits, coffee, water & club canteen

Apply now with your CV, portfolio, possible launch date and your salary expectation.

Send your application to jobs@clark.de

The Clark founder team is looking forward to your application.

